Product Description

Cordless Double Pleated Day Night Honeycomb Blinds/Top Down Bottom Up Pleated Cellular Shades

What is Honeycomb blinds?

Honeycomb blinds are a unique window treatment that looks great and keeps your home warm all year. Their specifically designed honeycomb construction traps air in separate pockets, resulting in insulation that can help you save money on your energy expenses. Honeycomb blinds can be used to decorate almost any type of window, including skylights and unusually shaped windows.

What to Look for in Honeycomb Blinds?

Lighting Control and Fabric Opacity

The opacity of the fabric will be determined by your requirements for privacy, light management, and light blockage. There are four choices.

Sheer fabric: If you desire a lot of natural light filtered and diffused through a soft fabric, then sheer fabric for your honeycomb shades is the best way to go.

Semi-sheer fabric: This fabric has the same properties as sheer fabric, but it has a higher opacity.

Light filtering fabric: Light filtering fabrics let light into your house while still blocking outside views, enabling you to get an ideal blend of privacy and light control.

Room darkening fabric: This fabric entirely hides the sun and allows you to have a completely dark room.

Pleat Dimensions

The pleat size refers to the size of the honeycomb cell. Honeycomb shades come in a variety of pleat sizes. The size of your window primarily determines the size of the pleats you choose.

Orientation

Honeycomb shades are offered in two orientations: horizontal and vertical
